

Anna Marie Kirkpatrick
Active 33m ago

When I met him he was a child. At the time, his parents were not sure he would live long due to a disease that affected his kidneys and growth. He did not grow like normal kids. He was very small for his age. Today he has only one kidney. There have been several scares of him getting sick. He is of fragile health. My understanding is he has degenerate diabetes.

But his autism (I'm calling it that because I don't know what else to call it) also gave him a gift. I was blessed to be cast in Death of a Salesman that he directed. This was when I saw how amazing his mind is. How he could hold so much in his mind. It was a great production and I was more proud of being in that production than any other.

More than anything, at this point, I want healing for everyone involved.

I want you to feel safe, loved, heard, and honored.

And I want healing for Mike too. I want him to learn (he has so little experience, and his mother left him in his youth) to treat women with respect, honor, to be able to know the value of creating and holding safe space for a women to be able to express herself fully with him. This only comes with being trust worthy. And this is learned.

I'm just not sure how to get these things to be on the path that things are on now.

The path you are heading down now is going to cause more damage than I think you realize.

Already the shock is vibrating through the community.

He was arrested in public and is facing charges that will effect him the rest of his life. The court system has been activated. He is now on house arrest. He has lost his job. He can not be four miles from where you work or live. Basically that's all of downtown. All his hang outs. He will not be able to do anything at the hipp or the Acrosstown. And that's just the start. After the investigation, if they can, they will prosecute him, they will try to get him to plea out. The plea agreement will include being labeled a sex offender for the rest of his life. But I don't think he will choose that. I think it will go to trial. That's when the lawyers

😊 ...

Type a message...

Anna Marie Kirkpatrick
Active 33m ago

Options

- 🔍 Search in Conversation
- ✍️ Edit Nicknames
- 🎨 Change Color
- 👍 Change Emoji
- 🔔 Notifications

Facebook Profile

<https://facebook.com/annamarie.kirkpatrick.7>